

There are usually 4 tee boxes which are shown at the top of the diagram as the 4 shapes with different colors (Each golf course does not necessarily have the same notations) some may be named like bear tee, wolf tee etc., they each have different yardages away from the hole. The yardage is descending so the red will be the farthest away from the hole and the pink diamond is the closest.

- (Red circle) is typically mens professional tees
- (Blue square) is typically average men tees
- (Yellow triangle) is typically women's professional tees
- (Pink diamond) is typically average womens tees

When each player takes their first shot (drive) off the tee box they then have a new distance from the hole.

Scores can be tracked each hole by how far or close they were to par, shown in the scorecard diagram as +,-, or 0. So if they shot a 5 that means they pored the hole because in this situation the par was 5 and this could be shown as an 0. Or scores can be just shown as 5
